

Is Lead (Pb) Part of Your Business Plan?

Make Lead (Pb) Part of Your Business - Ideal for Home Inspectors, Plumbers and Contractors

With the dangers of lead (Pb) exposure making the news, more and more cities around the nation are looking for solutions to high levels of lead in their drinking water.

Home owners and landlords are taking action to test their water and take the necessary steps to make sure their drinking water is healthy. States are beginning to expand the current lead disclosure rules to now include piping systems.

Want to be a Part of the Solution? Become a LeadSmart Certified Tester

The LeadSmart program offers peace of mind by testing, identifying and bringing properties into compliance with the US EPA guideline for lead contamination that results from the leaching effects from plumbing system components.

When a property is tested in compliance to current EPA guidelines for lead you can issue a LeadSmart Certificate of Compliance.

LeadSmart water testing services are backed by an industry first - a $1 Million Professional Errors and Omissions Insurance program.
